

Justine Scott

I joined Heat Trace in August 2015 as a Customer Service Advisor, this role will involve all areas of sales order management ensuring that the customer requirements are fully understood and the progress of orders are communicated back to them.

For the last 23 years I have worked for a global food flavouring & ingredient manufacturing company based on the Wirral. My last position of Key Account Order Co-ordinator meant that I had daily contact with all areas of the supply chain and with production planners of the largest European Snack manufacturing company. I have had various roles from management accounts, raw material scheduling, production planning to customer service/order co-ordinator.

I look forward to being part of the Heat Trace Team and building strong relationships with my internal and our external customers to ensure that we provide excellent customer service.
